Highwaymen in Portland are operating on horseback and made three hold-ups Wednesday night. The police are after them. They do not operate on large enough a scale. The O. R. & N. Company has been holding up the farmers of Oregon for years, as the Oregonian has stated, and there are no policemen to bother it.

All Astorians who visit Portland and desire spending a pleasant evening in company with polite people and in the enjoyment of an unexcelled musical program, should go to the Fredericksburg. Besides vocal and instrumental selections there are many other attractions to delight the visitors. The new management is making the Fredericksburg a well-merited success. BROWN & GRANT, Props.

The school board has arranged and rearranged matters in regard to the seating at the various schools until they are now very satisfactory, considering the limited amount of room and the large increase in attendance. The smallpox scare and the institute broke into the school work to some extent, but every thing now is running smoothly.

The ladies of the Library Association have secured Mr. Webber and his company to give a concert at Fisher's opera house next Friday evening, November 24th. Mr. Webber needs no introduction to Astorians, and there is no doubt but that his old friends will give him and his company the welcome they so well deserve; that the theater will be crowded to its capacity goes without saying.

Councilman Parker was caught napping. He had had his eagle eye on a bill against the city that he thought improper and has managed to hold it up for several months. Last night he heard the bill read off, as ordered, in the minutes of the previous meeting. He had been absent that evening and the bill had slipped through. The look of disgust on the councilman's face when he found that his vigilance had gone for naught because of one lapse, was worthy of being painted.

The barbers of Astoria have not been able to discover any advantage to the craft in the "barber law" passed by the last legislature. Anyone can get a certificate from the board who is willing to pay for it and the board is the only gainer. One barber suggested that a boot-black law ought to be passed at the next session of the legislature and if three Portland tailors wish an easy living, they might secure the passage of an act making all tailors in the state secure a license from the three as an official board.

A number of Astorians stayed up Wednesday night to see what they could see, with particular reference to the advertised display of meteors. They willingly lost their sleep—that was the price of admission. Mr. Pague and Mr. Johnson kindly rolled the curtain of clouds back and the twinkling stars were seen laughing at mortal credulity. But there was a washout somewhere and the stellar attractions, the meteors, failed to show up. The Astoria lookers went grumbling to bed and didn't get their money back.

THE FOOT BALLISTS. Breakup of the State Interscholastic Association.

The Astoria pigskin kickers continue their night practice and they will be in form when they meet the next visitors. Their most interesting game will be that with the Indians Thanksgiving day.

Lovers of true sport throughout the state will applaud the action of the Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, and the State University, Eugene, in withdrawing from the interscholastic football association.

This action was taken on account of the other members of the association, and particularly Willamette University, playing "outsiders,"—not real students. Only two members of Willamette's team attended the University. Willamette claims the championship on account of Corvallis and Eugene refusing to meet her, but as the O. A. C. defeated the Salem team easily the claim is an idle one.

STREET RAILWAY ORDINANCE. City Council gives Mr. Keuttner the Time He Desires.

The city council met last night with but one absentee. It was an interesting session and several important matters were discussed.

The ordinance relating to the new street car franchise asked for by the people who propose to absorb the present system came up for passage and was the occasion of several earnest speeches.

The ordinance gives the promoters a year in which to complete arrangements and further time in which to commence extensions and improvements, the ordinance providing for a half-mile extension from each end and the putting of the whole system in first class condition.

Two or three councilmen objected to granting of this time, Mr. Keuttner being called upon, stated that after long and diligent effort he had succeeded in interesting capital in the project and that he thought, the time asked for would not be required, but people handling money in such sums move carefully and he wished to feel sure of enough time. As soon as the deal was consummated and the money passed, the work of improvement would begin immediately for it would be a poor business proposition to let $60,000 lie idle.

Mayor Bergman said that he had money in the street railway and he never expected to get it out. If there was chance to get outside capital to take hold of the system and expend $50,000 here in putting it in shape the council ought not let anything interfere.

Two years on top of 75 was a small matter and the present company would be in possession until the deal is consummated. The ordinance passed.

The city physician was discharged, there being no further need of his services.

The formal resolution relative to the coming city election was passed.

A resolution declaring the intention to grade and plank the upper part of Franklin Ave. was passed. Also to plank the roadway on Astor street from 6th to McClure's Astoria. This improvement calls for no sidewalks.

A resolution preparatory to constructing a 12-inch sewer from the north line of Grand avenue on 18th street to the south side of Exchange street was passed.

Several bills were ordered paid and reports of committees received.

Next Monday evening Beach and Bowers Minstrels will be the next attraction at Fisher's opera house, and judging from the immense business they are doing this week in Portland, they are without doubt a first-class company.
